SOPHISTICATED CHIC

words SUNNY HUBLER / photo MICHAEL BLEVINS

Layton Campbell of JLayton Interiors is a native Charlottean: His clients, fellow Charlotte residents, desire unique spaces that are personal to their diverse tastes and needs and meant to keep up with the times. Layton is perfectly primed to deliver just that.

This cozy living room is a layered space, with tons of texture and interest to pair alongside the clean white walls and dark trim. At every turn, there is "something tactile," Layton explains, from the woven sweater rug to the custom wrought iron mirrors, fabrics with fringe and tribal style embroidery. The young couple who own the home—built by Kingswood Custom Homes with hard line design by Louise Leeke—wanted a comfortable space they could live in daily, but they also sought a more sophisticated style when it came time to entertain.

The custom wrought iron mirrors are by Jim Watts, Kelly Wearstler fabric is on the pillows, Theodore Alexander did the leather strap cocktail table, and the custom sectional and swivel chairs are Ambella Home.

— info —

jlaytoninteriors.com / @jlaytoninteriors